

TypeBookTwo

The second book showing our collection of typefaces is now available. As with the first book, TypeBookTwo will be included with all direct font purchases. The book can be obtained on its own by using the PDF order form at www.typography.net/info/TypeBookTwo_order.pdf.

The two texts included have been written by Neil Macmillan and Jan Middendorp. In the first text, Neil reminisces on the years leading to the digital revolution in typesetting. In the second text, Jan discusses ideas that directly affect the practice of type design today.

TypeBookTwo

As mentioned in Footnote 09, stocks of TypeBookOne are running low (now down to the last box!). If you wish to purchase a copy the PDF order form can be downloaded at www.typography.net/info/TypeBookOne_order.pdf.

www.typography.net

Although it looks the same, our website has evolved. The company NuBlue Web Solutions www.nublue.co.uk now host the site and have re-written elements making it easier to manage.

Read the article at Expression Engine's website: http://expressionengine.com/showcase/read/emily_griffiths_nublue_web_solutions/.

New types?

A set of new typefaces have been under development since 2006. Originally aimed for release in 2010, it now looks likely that these will be ready for mid 2009. All being well!

