

This is a Licence under the JTT Base Licence Agreement (the “Agreement”). Terms used in this Licence have the meaning given to them in the Agreement and in the Appendix below.

1. Subject to the limitations below, we license you to use the Font and its related Software solely for the purpose of evaluating the Font in order to determine whether you wish to license the Font and its related Software commercially from us, and for such purpose only to use the Font in outline or as a rasterised image, in view and print form only, securely so the Font cannot be extracted, is non-editable, and cannot be downloaded, removed or accessed in a useable form; provided that your evaluation rights as expressed above apply only to a Font sub-set: you must never embed or include the entire Font set in any file.

2. This Licence is limited to use of the Font or its related Software on devices owned by you (and not by any other person or entity).

3. You agree and will ensure that no commercial or other use shall be made of the Font or its related Software, and that no file containing any part of the Font or its related Software (other than a PDF showing a demonstration of the use of the Font) is made accessible or available to any person other than you; you may use the Font or its related Software for evaluation purposes only.

4. Note that JTT includes in the Font and/or its related Software watermarks and Licence stamps, including ones that may include your details, in order to help trace infringements of this Licence; you acknowledge and agree to the use of these and other techniques for the protection of JTT’s rights.

APPENDIX

In this Licence:

- (a) “device” means any item through which it is possible to give commands which are capable of being responded to by any part of the JTT Products; and
- (b) “Font” is the requested demo Font that we specifically adapt for evaluation by you and which we make available for download under this Licence.